

Dear friends and colleagues, in May 2009 we made a remarkable experience in a seminar with Arawana Hayashi. She set us in motion in her very personnel and touching manner, moved us in a deep way and led us in new spaces of awareness.

Arawana Hayashi lives in USA. She is a dancer, choreographer and a meditation teacher. Arawana works together with Otto Scharmer using her work to support the capacity building around applying his "Theory U". Otto Scharmer developed it as a model for organizational and social change. This process leads into a field and a state, out of which "something new may evolve into the world". With her movement choreographies Arawana supports to get into this state of "Presencing".

We invite you warmly to the second workshop with Arawana, in which we want to go on investigating together with her the relationship of body, movement, presencing Theory U and constellation work in an experimental way:

Social Presencing Theater The Art of Making a True Move

A true move is the powerful expression that emerges moment by moment from a space in which self and the world are playing.
